

Sigmund Snopek III

Plans Concert at Miramar Theatre

Sigmund Snopek III, will present an evening of his most recent classical music at the Miramar Theatre on Sunday, Oct. 24th, beginning at 7:00 pm. "Sigmund and the Sopranos" will be an evening of intimate chamber music.

At the heart of the program will be performances by four of the area's most talented female singers – Annie Denison, Kelly Fadeski, Leslie Fitzwater and Christine Thomas. Each will perform a song cycle with music by Snopek and featuring the poetry of Fernando Pessoa, Portuguese surrealist of the early 20th century.

"From the first time I read his poetry, I felt an immediate connection to the power and lyricism of his poetry", says Snopek. "Many of Pessoa's poems are brief, glistening images expressed with a minimum of words and a maximum of emotional impact."

Sigmund and the Sopranos is a unique opportunity to hear each of these cycles performed by the artist for whom it was written.

This concert will also feature solo instrumentals by two popular Milwaukee area musicians. Flutist Marie Sander will play Snopek's "Breakfast in Africa." Clarinetist Christopher Zello will perform the Milwaukee premier of "Towers, Effigies and Spirits." Both Sander and Zello are familiar names in the Wisconsin classical music community, performing regularly with local and regional ensembles and orchestras.

To round out the evening, Snopek will play a series of piano compositions, selected from his recent CD, "Jade."

A reception in the theatre lobby will follow the performance.

The historic Miramar Theatre is located at 2844 North Oakland Avenue. Tickets are $10.00, and are available at the Miramar box office, 414-967-0302.
